THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The interest of the Southern Pacific to get control of the land grants of the Texas Pacific is one which a person in this city cannot help but be aware of. The Interior Department appears very much inclined to let the Texas Pacific, embracing the grant to the same company, and the Southern Pacific, under the new Department name of the Texas Pacific, to divide them between them. The company in charge of the Texas Pacific, but closely allied with the Southern Pacific, is the same that has been in charge of the Texas Pacific, but closely allied with the Southern Pacific, or the same line. The Southern Pacific also has the backing of Huntington, who is the most powerful railroad man in the country, and who has been in Washington for the last month with a retainer as attorney, with the understanding that the interest should not be prosecuted to the detriment of the Southern Pacific. Huntington has been here for the last month, and has been in the habit of visiting the Interior Department almost every day. He has been in the habit of visiting the Interior Department almost every day. He has been in the habit of visiting the Interior Department almost every day. He

HER MAJESTY'S MINISTERS.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Lord Mayor's banquet to the Gladstone Cabinet takes place to-day. Gladstone, in responding to the toast of "Her Majesty's Ministers," said: [Cheers.] The Ministry, he continued, had been in office nearly seven months, and had met Parliament for the sixth session, and had given to Europe an assurance of peace, and received evidence of unbroken confidence. To one of the two main points upon which the Government had been assailed—the question of peace—he could refer with confidence to the events of the past year. Upon the other point—the question of economy—he could refer to the fact that the Government had not only maintained the estimates of the year, but had reduced the expenditure of the year by £1,000,000. [Cheers.] The Government had been able to effect a great change in the condition of affairs in Ireland. The outlook at the hour he spoke, he could not conceal from himself, was not entirely satisfactory. [Cheers.] The Government had not been able to effect a settlement of the land question. [Cheers.] The Government had been able to effect a settlement of the Irish question. [Cheers.] The Government had been able to effect a settlement of the Irish question.
